

READERS' CHOICE WINNER

GFI WINS IN WINDOWS & .NET MAGAZINE'S 2003 READER'S CHOICE AWARDS

BEST TELEPHONY PRODUCTS – BEST FAX SERVER

For the second year in a row, GFI Software's GFI FAXmaker for Exchange is our readers' pick for the Best Fax Server.

GFI FAXmaker is a native fax connector for Microsoft Exchange Server. The product's seamless integration with Exchange lets users send and receive faxes and, in areas with a Global System for Mobile Communication (GSM) network, use Short Message Service (SMS) to send messages directly from Microsoft Outlook.

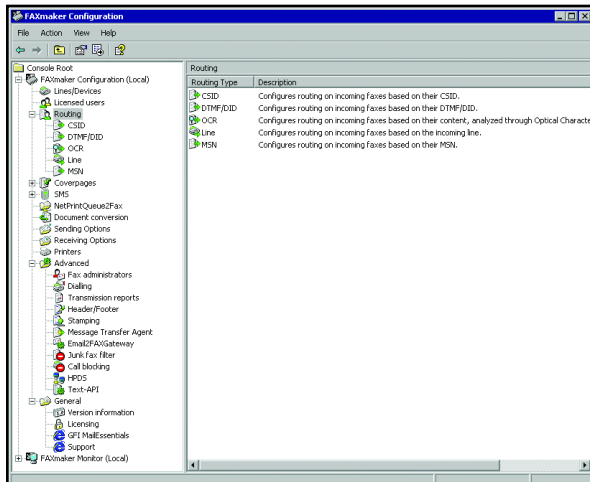

Although anybody with a mobile phone can send an SMS, GFI FAXmaker's SMS gateway offers many advantages. Through it, users can type and send SMS messages much faster from their computer (rather than using their mobile phone pad) and can also use the corporate email address book for recipient mobile numbers. The SMS gateway grants organizations central control of SMS usage. A company can also benefit from application integration: Because GFI FAXmaker integrates seamlessly with Exchange Server, any application that can generate emails can now send notifications via the SMS gateway, meaning that organizations can easily SMS-enable any corporate application. GFI FAXmaker's SMS gateway implements an SMS server that can use multiple mobile phones. Alternatively, users can subscribe to an Internet-based SMS service.

GFI FAXmaker for Exchange includes full support for both Exchange Server 2003 and Windows Server 2003. GFI FAXmaker has been updated to take full advantage of Windows 2003 new features, and supports the Windows 2003 server modem drivers (which removes the two-line limitation posed by using earlier Windows drivers).

Standard features of the product include a multiline fax server, inbound fax routing, a print-to-fax driver for Windows, support for server-based rendering of Office documents, fax management features, and more. GFI FAXmaker integrates with Active Directory (AD), which eliminates the need to maintain a separate fax user database, and you can apply user-related settings directly to Windows users and groups.
